Notice of the Commencement of Tender Offer for Shares in Argo 21 Corporation

Please be informed that Canon Marketing Japan Inc. (the “Company”) decided to acquire shares in, and share warrants of, Argo 21 Corporation (Code: 4692, listed on the first section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange (TSE), hereinafter called the “Target Company”) through tender offer (hereinafter referred to as the “Tender Offer”) as described below at a Board of Directors meeting held on May 16, 2007.

1. Purpose of the Tender Offer

Through efforts to strengthen its business structure, which supports a shift from the conventional wholesale business to a solutions provider, the Company achieved increases in both sales and profit for the fourth consecutive year and posted record sales and profit for the second straight year on a consolidated basis in 2006, a fitting start for the Company, whose name was changed in April 2006. The Company also launched a long-term management plan for 2006-2010 (hereinafter called the “Long-Term Management Plan”) as part of Phase III (2006-2010) of the Canon Group’s “Excellent Global Corporation Plan.” Within the Long-Term Management Plan, the Company aims to achieve 1,100 billion yen in consolidated net sales and a consolidated ordinary income margin of at least 5.2% in 2010, as well as sales of 300 billion yen for its IT solutions operations (ITS 300 Billion Yen Project).

The Company acquired all the shares in the former Sumitomo Metal System Solutions Co., Ltd. (now known as Canon System Solutions Inc. (“CSOL”)) in 2003 and has fostered CSOL as an IT solution core company in the group. CSOL is consolidating and bolstering its system integration (SI) business, package software products business, and infrastructure business. In addition, CSOL has carried out mergers and acquisitions to strengthen medical solutions and CAD operations. Other group companies are also actively conducting M&As and business tie-ups.

However, the Company feels that the goals of the ITS 300 Billion Yen Project cannot be accomplished with such business reinforcement measures alone. In the IT solutions industry, where global competition is likely to intensify in the future, establishing an IT solutions company that is able to capitalize on its own strength and offer one-stop services to customers is urgently needed. The Company believes that by adding Argo 21 Corporation as part of the Group, it will be able to lay a firm foundation for excellent growth towards achieving the ITS 300 Billion Yen Project. Founded in 1984, Argo 21 Corporation has developed unique business operations in the IT service industry through a comprehensive service mechanism ranging from the planning and architecting of information systems to management. In particular, Argo 21 Corporation boasts superior SI services based on its know-how with the finance and public sectors and runs the business as a company deeply trusted by customers and partners. The Company believes that the tie-up between Argo 21 Corporation and CSOL will enhance development and architecture capabilities in SI business of the two companies, reinforcing the IT solutions operations. Synergy with other group companies in other business areas can also be expected.

For these reasons, the Company has discussed and studied possibilities of either a business or capital tie-up with Argo 21 Corporation and concluded that the Tender Offer will help enhance the corporate value of the two companies. The two companies signed an agreement statement on conducting the Tender Offer (the "Agreement Statement") as of May 16, 2007. In the Agreement Statement, the two companies agreed to discuss in good faith and appoint board members of Argo 21 Corporation named by the Company in accordance with the percentage of voting rights to be held by the Company as a result of the Tender Offer and to discuss in good faith business operations of Argo 21 Corporation after the close of the Tender Offer in order to maximize synergy between the Company, Argo 21 Corporation and its group companies.

While the Company intends to turn Argo 21 Corporation into a subsidiary after the Tender Offer, it does not necessarily plan to have Argo 21 Corporation shares delisted. Consequently, the Company plans to purchase 5,800,000 shares during the Tender Offer (planned shareholding of 54.21% after the Tender Offer). On the other hand, taking into account the interests of Argo 21 Corporation shareholders, the Company and Argo 21 Corporation have agreed to purchase all the shares, etc. tendered. During the Tender Offer, the Company will purchase all the shares, etc. tendered, whether the total number tendered is below or above the number of shares, etc. the Company plans to buy.

As mentioned above, the Tender Offer is not aimed at delisting Argo 21 Corporation, whose shares are currently listed on the first section of the TSE. However, since there is no upper limit for the number of shares etc. to be purchased through the Tender Offer, depending on the outcome of the Tender Offer, Argo 21 Corporation shares may be delisted in accordance with the delisting criteria set by the TSE and the prescribed procedure. If Argo 21 Corporation falls under the TSE's delisting criteria, the Company will take into consideration options such as making Argo 21 Corporation a wholly owned subsidiary through exchange of shares, in order to protect the interests of Argo 21 Corporation's minority shareholders. However, since the Company has not decided the detailed policy and terms, it will consider such options carefully when Argo 21 Corporation finally falls under the TSE's delisting criteria as a result of the Tender Offer.

Meanwhile, irrespective of whether Argo 21 Corporation's listing is maintained or not, following the Tender Offer, the Company is considering business integration of Argo 21 Corporation and CSOL (Fiscal year 2006 consolidated net sales of 43,029 million yen, and ordinary income of 3,151 million yen, total assets of 16,227 million yen, capitalization of 3,617 million yen and 1,775 employees) toward fiscal 2008. The new company, after business integration, aims to become more competitive as a core company of IT solutions business within the Group. Moreover, following the integration, the Company will strive to expand operations and improve services, with a view to leading the Japanese information service industry. The Company has not decided the procedure and terms of such business integration in detail (including whether to keep listing of Argo 21 Corporation or not after such business integration if Argo 21 Corporation remains listed as a result of the Tender Offer), and it plans to study and determine in accordance with the percentage of our voting rights in Argo 21 Corporation as a result of the Tender Offer and the situation of two companies after the Tender Offer.

Management of Argo 21 Corporation has already voiced their approval of the move described above and has agreed to the Tender Offer at its Board or Directors meeting held on May 16, 2007.

(4) Grounds for calculating the Tender Offer price

1) Basis of calculation

(i) Shares

The Company referred to an assessment report of equity value (“Equity Value Assessment Report”) formulated by Nomura Securities Co., Ltd., its financial advisor, in determining the price of common shares for the Tender Offer. Nomura Securities Co., Ltd. assessed the share price of the Target Company, using the market share price averaging method, comparisons with similar companies and the discounted cash flow method. According to the Equity Value Assessment Report, the Target Company’s share price was assessed at from 1,019 yen to 1,039 yen under the market share price averaging method, from 930 yen to 1,379 yen according to comparisons with similar companies, and from 1,256 yen to 1,630 yen under the discounted cash flow method.

The Company looked at the premiums added to the prices of shares in cases of tender offers conducted by companies other than the issuer in the past, took the results of Equity Value Assessment Reports into consideration and discussed the premium within the range from the lowest 930 yen according to comparisons with similar companies to the highest 1,630 yen under the discounted cash flow method. Furthermore, taking into account the outlook of the Tender Offer, the Company ultimately decided to set the purchase price for the Tender Offer at 1,400 yen.

The purchase price for the Tender Offer has been determined by adding a premium of 40.70% (rounded to the nearest hundredth) to an average closing price of 995 yen (rounded to the nearest whole number) on the first section of the TSE for a one-month period ending on May 15, 2007. The price is at a premium of 37.39% compared to the closing share price of 1,019 yen on the first section of the TSE on May 15, 2007.

(ii) Share warrants

As of May 15, 2007, the exercise price of the First Share Warrants was 1,099 yen per share, which was 301 yen lower than the per-share Tender Offer price of 1,400 yen.

As of May 15, 2007, the exercise price of the Second Share Warrants was 1,092 yen per share, which was 308 yen lower than the per-share Tender Offer price of 1,400 yen.

Both share warrants were issued as part of the broader stock option plan for directors, executive officers (only the Second Share Warrants), corporate auditors (only the First Share Warrants) and employees of the Target Company as well as directors of subsidiaries of the Target Company, and warrant holders are not allowed to transfer, pledge, or dispose of in other ways or inherit share warrants. Accordingly, the Company has determined the purchase price of share warrants as described above, on the ground that even if share warrants were purchased under the Tender Offer they could not be exercised.

2) History of calculation

The Company repeatedly held discussions with the Target Company regarding the possibility of a capital tie-up from around February 2007. Based on such discussions, the Company concluded it best to acquire the majority of voting rights in the Target Company and make it a consolidated subsidiary in order to enhance the corporate value of the Company on a mid- to long-term basis. Accordingly, the Company entered concrete negotiations and discussions regarding the Tender Offer.

In determining the Tender Offer price, the Company obtained an Equity Value Assessment Report from Nomura Securities Co., Ltd. on May 15, 2007. Nomura Securities Co., Ltd. assessed the equity value of the Target Company, using the market share price averaging method, comparisons with similar companies and the discounted cash flow method. According to the Equity Value Assessment Report, the Target Company's equity value per share was assessed at from 1,019 yen to 1,039 yen under the market share price averaging method, from 930 yen to 1,379 yen according to comparisons with similar companies, and from 1,256 yen to 1,630 yen under the discounted cash flow method.

The Company looked at the premiums added to share prices in cases of tender offers conducted in the past by companies other than the issuer, took the results of Equity Value Assessment Reports into consideration and discussed the premium within the range from the lowest 930 yen according to comparisons with similar companies to the highest 1,630 yen under the discounted cash flow method.

In addition, by taking into account the Tender Offer outlook and other factors, the Company set the per-share Tender Offer price at 1,400 yen at a Board of Directors meeting held on May 16, 2007. As for share warrants, the Company set the purchase price at 1 yen per warrant due to the reasons described under the basis of calculation at the same Board of Directors meeting.
